

Retirement of Jean-Luc Fossey, Spirit Industry Expert at Spirit France Diffusion.

Reux, France - Tuesday 5 March 2024.

Spirit France Diffusion is delighted to announce the retirement of Jean-Luc Fossey, experienced Cellar Master and Site Manager, after an exceptional career spanning more than 20 years with the company.

A distinguished career

Jean-Luc Fossey joined Spirit France Diffusion in 2001 as Assistant Cellar Master. In 2008, he took on a key role as Cellar Master and Site Manager. His exemplary career has been marked by his unrivalled expertise in supervising cellar production, encompassing aspects such as single and double distillation, ageing, blending and tasting. As a leader, he successfully managed the cellar teams, planning, recruiting and training staff with dedication.

Jean-Luc Fossey's varied responsibilities have included stock management, ageing accounts, new product development, as well as overseeing infrastructure maintenance and safety management as Site Manager. His ability to choose suppliers wisely and negotiate effectively has greatly contributed to the company's overall operational efficiency.

Before joining Spirit France Diffusion, Mr Fossey acquired solid experience as Cellar Master at Calvados Drouin in Coudray-Rabut (14) from February 1985 to December 2000. His dedication to the spirits industry was also demonstrated through his national service and his role as an agricultural mechanic from June 1981 to February 1985.

Technical expertise and commitment to safety

With his BEP-CAP in mechanics and his passionate self-taught status, Jean-Luc Fossey has brought invaluable technical expertise to his role. His certifications in first aid (SST), fire safety (ESI) and environmental health (HE) testify to his ongoing commitment to safety and well-being within the company.

A Personal and Professional Heritage

His departure marks the end of a remarkable era at Spirit France Diffusion.

The Spirit France Diffusion team expresses its deep gratitude to Jean-Luc Fossey for his outstanding contributions and unwavering dedication. We wish him a peaceful retirement, rich in well-deserved moments of relaxation and happiness.
